THE SECOND ANNOUNCEMENT AND CALL FOR PAPERS

Dear fellow scientists and colleagues,

It is our pleasure to invite you to participate in the 61st International Meat Industry Conference (MEATCON2021), to be held at Mt Zlatibor, hotel “Mona” on September 26–29th 2021. The Conference is, traditionally, the converging point for prominent food/feed scientists, leading industry experts, governmental officials, members of the professional associations and other entities, leading towards the common goal – healthy food for present and future. Basic concepts of the Conference are presentation of the current research in the field, exchange of ideas and sharing experiences in both scientific and professional capacities. Since we are living the vibrant times witnessing intense integration of science, technology, health and environment, we encourage and cordially invite scientists and professionals from various fields – food technology, food quality and safety, nutrition, environmental scientists, as well as members of professional organization, food/feed business operators and other interested parties to take part in the Conference, to present the research results, exchange ideas and discuss further challenges.

Scientific Programme shall include plenary and invited lectures given by prominent international and domestic researchers that will be published in journal “Earth and Environmental Science Journal” by IOP Publishing, dedicated to the Conference and indexed in ISI Web of Science (Conference Proceedings Citation Index), Scopus etc.

We invite you to take active participation in the Conference and share research from your field of work with fellow scientists.

We look forward welcoming you at Mt. Zlatibor

Best regards,

Chairman of The Scientific Committee
Srđan Stefanović, PhD

Chairman of The Organizing Committee
Branko Velebit, PhD
