

Ilija Djekić, PhD

Research Title: Full Professor

Affiliation: University of Belgrade - Faculty of Agriculture, Department of Food Safety and Quality Management – Belgrade, Serbia

Occupation field: Food Modeling, Food Quality and Safety, Food Sustainability

Short biography: Teaching portfolio of Dr Ilija Djekic covers quality and environmental topics in food science. He lectures various courses at all three levels of studies. To-date he lectured to over 1,200 students and supervised over 75 PhD, master's and bachelor's theses. His scientific portfolio is deployed to evaluating food industry performance by using existing and / or developing new diagnostic models and tools for analyzing food safety / quality / sustainability performance in food industry at both company and products level and identifying improvement possibilities throughout the food supply chain. Ilija Djekic has (co-)authored more than 250 full papers out of which (145+) in journals included in the © ISI Web of Knowledge. He has international experience in over ten countries and serves as an Editor in different peer reviewed journals. He appeared on the Stanford list of top 2% scientists in the world for 2021.