

Mirjana Dimitrijević, PhD

Research title: Full professor

Affiliation: University of Belgrade ,Faculty of Veterinary Medicine, Belgrade - Serbia

Occupation field: Food Hygiene and Technology

Short biography: Basic research focuses on foodborne pathogen microorganisms in meat and their control during meat processing. Implementation of the HACCP system in the food industry.

Organization of student lessons and responsible for their planning and coordination in the field of hygiene and quality assessment of food. Also involved in scientific projects (national and international) and publication of scientific papers.

Member of the two scientific advisory boards of the University of Belgrade- for medical sciences and for interdisciplinary, multidisciplinary, and transdisciplinary studies.