

Igor Tomašević, PhD

Research title/Position: Full Professor

Affiliation: University in Belgrade – Belgrade, Serbia

Occupation field: Meat Science

Short biography: Igor Tomasevic is a Full Professor working at Faculty of Agriculture University of Belgrade (Serbia), Guest Professor at University of Life Sciences in Lublin (Poland) and visiting professor at University of Bari. His professional training took place at Texas AM University (USA), University of Jerusalem, University of Ghent, IRTA and University of Valencia. In 2022/23 he was a guest research associate at German Institute for Food Technology (DIL). He has supervised 10 PhD thesis at University of Belgrade and abroad. So far, he has coauthored 200+ papers in journals included in the ISI Web of Knowledge (5.000+ citations; h-index=40). For the last 3 years he has been listed in the World's Top 2% Scientists database by the Stanford University. Also, he has received Top Peer Reviewer Award (2017,2018,2019) by Web of Science for placing him in the top 1% of reviewers in Agricultural sciences.