

Nevena Grković, PhD

Research title: Assistant Professor

Position: Assistant Professor in Department of Food Hygiene and Technology

Affiliation: University in Belgrade, Faculty of Veterinary Medicine – Belgrade, Serbia

Occupation field: Food Hygiene and Technology

Short biography: Dr Nevena Grkovic is an assistant professor on Department of Food Hygiene and Technology at The Faculty of Veterinary Medicine in Belgrade. She defended her doctoral dissertation in 2017 (“Identification and phylogenetic analysis of norovirus detected in mussels (Mytilus galloprovincialis) from the aspect of food safety”) and specialistic thesis in 2019 (“Seasonal variations of quality, biochemical composition and biometric parameters of mussels (Mytilus galloprovincialis)”) at The Faculty of Veterinary Medicine in Belgrade. Her activity includes lecturing at integrated graduate and postgraduate studies. Starting from 2014, she is participating in the project of The Ministry of Education, Science and Technological Development of The Republic of Serbia No. TR 31034. Her basic research focuses on foodborne pathogen microorganisms and toxic metals in meat and meat products.